Cost $6,047.40 And $34,638 Respectively; Fix Individual Levies

Assessments covering Lateral Sewer District 11-A, and 12 were fixed at a meeting of the Freeport Sewer Commission Monday night in the Municipal Building following scheduled hearings in which no one participated.

The total cost of the work in District 11-A, on President st., was fixed at $6,047.40, with an assessment of approximately $11.70 a front foot. For District 12, comprising Meister Beach, the total cost was $34,638.08 involving a levy of approximately $12.40 a front foot. The exact amount to be borne by the various property owners will be fixed by the assessor and announced at a meeting of the commission to be held Monday night, Aug. 7.

Also on that date there will be a hearing on the proposal to establish Lateral District 11.

It was voted to delay action on the petition for the establishment of Lateral District No. 16, Freeport Bay Estates, pending action by the Village Board on the application for the admission of the adjacent area into the limits of the incorporated village.

The matter of revising the boundaries of proposed District 6-A as to speed up the obtaining of signatures to the petition was referred to Commissioner Edward M. Volker and Village Engineer Herbert M. Wood.

Dash After Crash Costs Offender Just $190 In Assorted Penalties

Leaving the scene of an accident and leading the cops a merry chase up Main st., through three red-lights into Roosevelt proved an expensive stunt for John O'Keefe, 152 Greenwich st., Hempstead. It cost him $190 in fines imposed by Judge Hilbert R. Johnson Monday in the village court.

Patrolman Walter Wright was patrolling West Merrick rd. at 3 A. M., when he heard a crash in the vicinity of South Main st. and Merrick rd. Hastening to the scene he saw O'Keefe's car disappearing rapidly up Main st. Just then Russell Mantello, 42 Alexander ave., happened along in his machine and Wright asked him to try to overtake the fleeing machine as he jumped into the vehicle.

The chase continued across the railroad tracks up North Main st., and then into Nassau rd., before O'Keefe was overtaken and forced to the side of the road at Centennial ave., Roosevelt. In a moment Patrolman Henry Schwan, not knowing that Wright had been in the chase, also finally caught up with the fugitive. Red lights at Grand ave., Lena ave., and Seaman ave., were passed in the pursuit.

Placed under arrest, O'Keefe was

Grade Elimination Decision Prepares Way For Definite Planning For Village Future

Freeport Getting Face Lifting By Light and Highway Bureaus

College students and extra-summer vacation personnel have been engaged by both the Municipal Highway and Lighting Departments since June 1 giving Freeport a face lifting on the appearance of street signs, street lights and traffic lights.

Repainting of more than 575 ornamental street lights with a bright aluminum paint and green trimmings at the base and neck of the ornamental fixture is nearly 75 per cent complete. The bracket street lights on North Main st. and other highways are to undergo the same treatment. Traffic lights at 34 street intersections are to be repainted with aluminum paint giving greater permanency to the life of fixtures. All this work is being done under the supervision of Superintendent Clinton Walling of the Lighting Department.

Harry O. Chiusano, Superintendent of the Highway Department has started to replace the old type street signs mounted on 7 foot poles with blue back grounds and white lettering. The new signs will be of sign with a black field and white embossed lettering of streets. These signs are discernable at all hours of the day and night and give the locations a much cleaner appearance over the former signs. About 140 street signs will be replaced at the start of this village program by the Highway Department and the entire village will be completed over a period of years.

Size of Victory Grows As Report of P.S.C. is Studied; the Features

After having had time to digest the findings of the Public Service Commission in amending the order for the construction of the railroad grade crossings through Freeport, the general opinion is that the atmosphere has been cleared so village authorities and private interests can get down to real planning for the future of the community.

The size of the victory grows as one studies the report of Commissioner George A. Arlwright, who presided at the hearings conducted after the case was re-opened.

On only two points did the commissioner disagree with the contents of the Village Board and Consulting Engineer Harry A. Strecker, Jr. The first of these is the ruling that grade elimination funds could not be used to acquire privately owned property for a parking plaza. However, the rest of the block bounded by Henry st., Sunrise Highway, Benson pl., and the railroad right of way owned by the L.I.R.R. and the New York, N. H. & H. R.R. is to be taken over and paved at the expense of the State.

The estimated price of the private property that would have to be acquired by the village to complete the plaza is $140,000, which it is contended would be but a small amount for the community to lay out considering the other benefit accruing from the amended decision.

Can Provide Bus Terminal

Secondly the P.S.C. ruled there was no necessity for providing accommodations for buses under the railroad viaduct and that "recesses designed for their special use under the village plan should be made available to the patrons for their benefit as required for automobile purposes, in connection with station facilities."

However, it was pointed out that the area under the viaduct was paved. If the village desired to utilize the section between Main and Henry sts., as a terminal for buses now operating out of the present rented site, all that would be necessary would be to mark the paving to serve as stalls and the village would have its terminal. As for the area east of Henry st., the feeling was that there is no need for additional bus facilities for the present.

1938 Plans Inadequate

Commissioner Arlwright in his opinion wrote:

"The plan, upon which the approved plan was based, was prepared some 14 years ago. In the meantime, vast changes have taken place (Continued on Page 2)

Grade Elimination

In Freeport, particularly in regard to population and traffic.

The railroad station, at its present location, between Grove and Main sts., may have been adequate for the requirements of 1936, but today with a great influx of population and a consequent increase in passenger traffic, the station and its surrounding area are no longer adequate.

The railroad station area lies between Brooklyn ave. on the north and Railroad ave. on the south. It has to accommodate commuters and other automobiles, bus traffic, taxis, express facilities and pedestrian traffic, but it is entirely inadequate for this purpose. The condition, however, is perpetuated on the presently approved plan. In fact the condition is because at present the platform is located between Ocean ave. and Main st., whereas they are shortened about 300 feet on the approved plan.

Savings Under Village Plan

"The Village plan, by moving the station east as prayed for, provides greater room for traffic circulation and provide access to station facilities over a spread of about 2,000 linear feet along the railroad right of way. Commuters and other patrons may approach the station at five points on each side of the railroad, but only at four points on the approved plan."

Mr. Arkwright also comments favorably on the Village plan for eliminating $279,000 from the cost of rebuilding a large section of the brick water conduit between Grove and Main st., which serves the City of New York, by moving the station eastward, another $325,000 for protecting the conduit where it was proposed to locate the lay-up tracks, which will now remain in approximately their present location, and also the benefits of moving the freight house eastward to Columbus ave., north of Bennington as a saving in truckage. He also comments on the fact that a proposed park for the Northeast section is assured as a result of the change in the location of the lay-up tracks.

Chinese, Japanese Exhibit at Library

At a time when all eyes are focused on the Far East and the crucial situation there, the Freeport Memorial Library has on display an exhibit of Chinese and Japanese articles. Among the more interesting of the Chinese items are a small scale model of a Chinese house, a miniature of a charcoal stove, and a very small pendant containing a pair of dice, each about 1/8 inch square.

Also included are exquisite examples of Chinese embroidery and shoes once worn by Chinese women. The artistic talents of the Chinese are evident throughout the complete exhibit but most especially in the design of the hand-painted lacquer jewelry chest, the bone carving and silhouette cutting. There are also several pieces made of cinabar (a very heavy compound of mercury with sulfur).

While the Japanese articles are fewer in number, they are equally interesting. An unusual design, for instance, decorates a tea set. In rows of four are tiny little faces one after the other. Properly enough this pattern is called the thousand faces. A lovely blue and white teapot, sent from Japan is convincing proof that the Japanese can create beauty as well as copy it. The library also has many informative books on the far-East, some of which are displayed in the West alcove of the Adult Reading Room.

Mohr V.F.W. Post Leads In Softball League

Henry Theodore Mohr Post moved into first place in the Nassau County V.F.W., softball league by defeating Inwood, on its own grounds Sunday by a score of 7 to 6. Frank Bartholomew clinched the victory for the Freeporters when he clouted out a home run with the bases full after two men had been walked home for a total of six runs in the fourth inning.

Bud Presson pitched for the Mohr nine and Bartholomew caught. The post had won seven games and lost but one. Mineola is second with 5 victories and 1 defeat, sustained at the hands of the Rockville Centre squad, also on Sunday by a 3 to 2 count.

A & P Pledges Fight On Unwarranted Prices

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, one of the nation's leading food distributors, moved against inflation today by pledging to "resist all unwarranted price rises with all our might."

The pledge was contained in one of the rare public statements issued by John A. Hartford, chairman of the 91-year-old food chain, who said the A & P "will cooperate unhesitatingly with our national government in the present crisis."

"We will make every effort to hold our inventories at the lowest point consistent with good service to our customers," he said, "because hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers or consumers, will cause higher prices."

"We will continue to maintain the lowest profit rate generally prevailing in the entire retail industry. Our net profit now is less than one cent on each dollar of sales."

The current profit rate cited by

Mr. Hartford was even lower than the profit of 1.15 per cent of consolidated net sales reported by the company for the fiscal year ended Feb. 28, 1950.

Mr. Hartford said a full statement of the company's policy in the current national emergency will appear over his signature in nation-wide newspaper advertisements this week.

"With our boys fighting in Korea," he said, "we believe that all citizens and all businesses, big and little, should devote themselves wholeheartedly to the public interest."

Court Backs Merger Of L.I. Lighting Units

Opposition Has Until July 26 to Appeal to U.S. Supreme Tribunal

The United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit has given a full and unqualified endorsement to the plan of consolidation of the Long Island Lighting Co. with its two subsidiaries. Unless an opposition committee of common stockholders appeals to the United States Supreme Court by July 26, the company will promptly be merged with the Queens Borough Gas and Electric Company and the Nassau and Suffolk Lighting Co. Early last month the Appeals Court had approved the plan in all respects but had remanded it to the Securities and Exchange Commission solely to determine whether the Commission had taken into consideration the $250,000 in annual savings that would result from the merger. The Commission now has answered in the affirmative and the Court decided that the Commission's explanation was adequate. The Court ruled: "What future earnings of any company will be largely guesswork. When to the uncertainties inevitable in such a prediction there is added the uncertainty of forecasting how much of the predicted earnings the Public Service Commission will allow the consolidated company to keep, the guess becomes even more prophetic.

"Now that the S.E.C. has shown that it has made at least a rational guess about the expectable influence of this factor, we see no basis to say that the commission is necessarily wrong. The doubts which the first report left in our minds are satisfied."

The plan provides for recapitalization of the Consolidated company on an all-common stock basis, with 77 per cent of the new stock to go to the holders of preferred stock of Long Island Lighting, 11.5 per cent to holders of preferred of Queens Borough Gas and Electric, and 5.7 per cent to the preferred stockholders of Nassau and Suffolk Lighting.

Salvation Army Plans Memorial For Gen. Evangeline Booth Sunday

Memorial services for Gen. Evangeline Booth, fourth daughter of Gen. William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army and for thirty years leader of the work in the United States, are to be conducted by Major Ernest W. Newton Sunday night in the local headquarters 75 Church st. The Major and Gen. Booth were closely associated in Salvation Army work for many years, as he was stationed at White Plains, three times, while the Salvationist was living in Hartsdale, where she died recently. He visited her several times during her final illness.

General Evangeline Booth was born in London, on Christmas Day, in 1866, the year her father started the Salvation Army movement. With the expansion of the organization she early was given large responsibility. While she was still in her teens she was appointed captain of a corps situated in the worst part of the West End of London. Following later assignments until at the age of 23, she was appointed to the command of all Salvation Army operations in London, including the principality of the International Training College.

When the leadership in Canada became vacant, at the request of her father, Evangeline Booth consented to fill the position, which she held for nine years. In 1904 she was appointed to the national leadership in the United States. During the 30 years she occupied this position the Army advanced rapidly. With the retirement of Gen. Edward J. Higgins on account of ill-health in Nov. 1934, the High Council in London elected Miss Booth general of the international forces, and 20,000 persons gathered in Madison Square Garden to honor her before she left for London. She returned to the United States following her retirement in December 1939, and established her home in Hartsdale. Throughout her career she was noted for her ability as an orator and musician.

Kunzinger Re-Elected K. C. Chapter Chairman

Edward L. Kunzinger, of Brooklyn, was re-elected chairman of the Long Island Chapter, K. of C., at the annual meeting held Sunday afternoon in the Brooklyn club-house. Daniel J. Carmichael, of Bishop Molloy Council, was returned to the office of guard for his fifth successive year and named to the board of directors of the hospital bed fund of which he was formerly secretary.

A vote of confidence was extended to U. S. Senator McCarthy, whose charges of communism in the Federal government agencies have just been turned down by a party-line vote of Senators, and a resolution was adopted protesting to Senator Tydings for the "white washing" report on the matter.

Davison Announces Plans Completed For So. Nassau Communities Hospital

Architect's Conception of Hospital Additions

Plans for the proposed addition to the South Nassau Communities Hospital, Oceanside, for which a campaign to raise $1,250,000 is now in progress, have been completed, Lyman W. Davison, chairman of the building committee and a member of the Board of Directors, announced today. When completed the bed capacity of the institution will be increased from 98 to 207.

The proposed addition will be in the form of a central wing, which includes a new entrance facing Oceanside road and a wing for maternity patients. The central wing will provide for new admitting offices, administration offices and general hospital beds which will leave the present space used by these facilities now for general surgical and medical beds. The maternity wing will be attached to the central wing in the rear, but will have complete segregation. It will provide for 68 maternity beds and 68 bassinets.

The proposed addition also will provide for a larger emergency room, a new emergency ward, additional kitchen facilities, larger X-ray and laboratory facilities and additional operating rooms.

Mr. Davison added that if the campaign could be sufficiently over-subscribed a further addition consisting of 40 beds could also be built at the same time. This would give South Nassau Communities Hospital a normal bed capacity of 247 beds which is as large a hospital as present planning justifies from an operating standpoint.

The campaign to raise $1,250,000 is now in the first phase. The first phase includes solicitation of members of the hospital family, as well as other initial and special gift prospects. The medical staff comprised of 350 doctors, has pledged $250,000 as its part in the campaign. The board of directors consisting of 40 representative citizens who serve without pay, has pledged $100,000 as their part. The administrative staff, consisting of nurses and the other hospital employees has pledged $25,000 as their part. The 15 auxiliaries of the hospital have undertaken projects which will be announced in the near future.

Mr. Davison is director of the Guidance Department of the Lawrence High School. Other members of the Building Committee include W. Sargeant Nixon and Cyril C. Ryan.

Baldwin School District Voters Back 2 Propositions

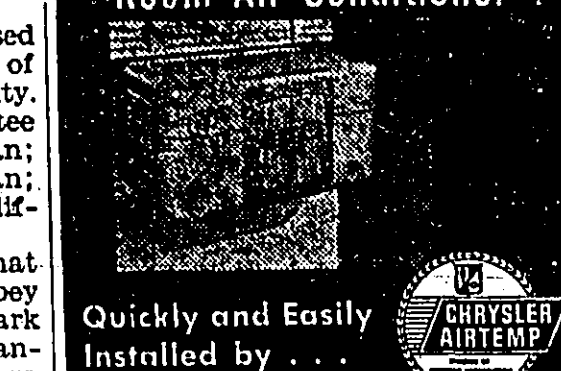

Voters of Union School District 10, comprising a large portion of the northwestern section of Freeport, approved the purchase of two parcels of land at a cost not exceeding $69,000 at a special school meeting in the Baldwin High School.

One proposal was to acquire property by purchase or condemnation for an addition to the Hastings ave. school at a cost not to exceed $14,500. The proposed site is just south of the present property on which the school is located. It was approved by a vote of 68 to 44, with 10 ballots being ruled void.

The other proposition was the acquisition of a plot at Millburg ave. and Garden pl., commonly known as the Pettit property for a new elementary school. Comprising approximately 9.22 acres, the top price was set at $54,500. This was carried by approximately the same margin as the other proposal.

How Loyal Are We?

If you read behind the fine print in the economic reports, the labor reports, the balance between imports and exports—reports, and reams of writing that come out of Wall st. and Washington . . . the one conclusion any thinking man must come to is that we're now committed irrevocably to a period of inflation.

Labor is shooting for (and will certainly get) a shorter work week, higher pay, bonus and pension and separation deals. Management has virtually given up the attempt to hold hold the price lines.

This adds up to only one answer: PRICES MUST GO UP. The only question is HOW FAST? HOW FAR?

Who can tell once the spiral of inflation is set in motion?

Already we find the effects of this economic movement being felt in the raw products markets.

Already we find manufacturers deciding not on whether they must move prices upward, but HOW MUCH?

Everything you buy from now on . . . so long as it is well made . . . will be worth more than you paid for it a year from today.

Unless there's a cataclysm coming (for which no sign appears) it's simply a matter of weeks before we feel the first upward price pressure in every field.

W wish we might lay down a formula for all of us to follow during this period, but unfortunately, this is not possible. The natural thing of course, is to go on a buying spree . . . to hoard.

But hoarding is not the answer.
Hoarding is un-American.

Those of us who have a few dollars laid aside might very well go out and invest in food-stuffs and other things, and in so doing, price them right out of the market, and off the shelves.

But for those who live from week to week . . . from pay check to pay check . . . what are they to do?

Starve?

Do without?

Or don't we care?

Whether we hoard or not is now a matter of our conscience. It is a matter too of whether or not we are loyal AMERICANS. One thing we can be sure of . . .

In the days to come we are going to need loyal Americans in this great land of ours as never before.

The Editor's Notebook

.... "Before taxes our profits amounted to $14,870,962.20 the treasurer reported to the board." "After taxes" he continued, "We transferred it to the petty cash account."

It amazes us that there are some people who give Pres. Truman credit for prosperity and active business, and those same people fail to give him credit for the 43 billion dollar indebtedness he has built up against them and their neighbors and their children.

Added thought on the Welfare State — The only guarantee of absolute welfare and security is a life sentence in a penitentiary.

And lest we forget Congress Dept. . . . We sometimes wonder whether the members of Congress would have to mend their fences so often if they had not sat on them so much.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:
I noticed recently in your "letters to the editor" column one of your writers complained about the vacant lots in Freeport being used as rubbish lots. We have such a vacant lot on Route 21 in Freeport where some people throw their rubbish. There are many nice homes in this section and it is quite a nuisance to see these lots used as a dumping ground. Can you please tell who we might write in order to correct this?

K. E.
Yes—there is a law covering this. We suggest you write to The Village Board, Municipal Bldg. Freeport. I am sure they will give your letter prompt attention.

Dear Sir:
For a long time there has been great need of a traffic light on Sunrise Highway at the Brookside Ave. crossing. I was very well pleased to see the installation of one yesterday at this dangerous crossing. It was about time.

A. M. P.

Dear Sir:
The "Special Edition" of THE LEADER last week was quite exceptional. I've been reading THE LEADER for many years and to my knowledge, this is the very first time I've ever known it to put out a Special Edition. Weekly papers don't as a rule have the facilities to bring important news such as this to the public as quickly as you did. Your coverage of the Public Service Commission decision was very complete. It gave much more detail on this than any other paper. Congratulations on a splendid job.

Walter Baylis
Thank you . . . We had loads of fun doing it too.

Dear Sir:
The "Special Edition" of THE LEADER was splendid. It covered the story in excellent fashion and was a real service to the people of Freeport. Congratulations.

John Hirsch

Dear Sir:
On Thursday morning before I left the house the mailman brought me my copy of THE LEADER which I always enjoy. I took it with me on a shopping trip into New York City. Imagine my surprise when I got off the train that evening to have handed to me a "SPECIAL EDITION" of THE LEADER telling all about the grade crossing elimination plan. It was excellent coverage just like a big metropolitan paper.

(Mrs.) William Marvin

Dear Sir:
I was delighted to read in your paper about the grade crossing elimination plan passed by the P.S.C. This will surely make a big difference in Freeport and should help our village immeasurably. When will this plan start?

Otto Diems

Cruikshank Calls Attention to Freeport Stray Dog Ordinance

James H. Cruikshank, President of the Long Island Humane and Dog Protective Association, Inc., has called attention to the fact that the Village Ordinance No. 26, makes it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not exceeding $100 for permitting dogs to range at large.

The Ordinance reads: No person shall allow any dog to run at large in any street, sidewalk, lane or public place in the Village of Freeport without being properly muzzled or under the immediate charge of and led by its owner or custodian. Any person violating the provisions of this Ordinance or any part thereof shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding One Hundred ($100) Dollars for each offense. Any violation of this ordinance or any part thereof shall constitute disorderly conduct, and any such person shall be a disorderly person.

Mr. Cruikshank also pointed out that this is the season of the year when many people have flower and vegetable gardens. He urged persons owning dogs to recognize this fact and to put their dogs on leashes on their own property instead of permitting them to roam about at will, and to have them on a leash when they take them out walking.

THE HOME CIRCLE

John Howard Payne was a great lover of home. We have been told how this great American served in Africa where he passed away. In 1833 his remains were dug up and placed in a metal casket. The U. S. Government sent a battle-ship to return his body to America.

After a long voyage through the Mediterranean and across the Atlantic the ship entered the harbor of New York where guns thundered the salute of honor. Flags of all nations, dipped their colors, and forth thundred the salute of honor. The casket was placed aboard a special train and sped to Washington. Business was suspended. The Congress closed. All stores and schools closed for the day.

There on the reviewing stand stood the President of the U. S. and members of his cabinet. Members of the U. S. Supreme Court, heads of government, and the populace stood with uncovered heads, while the streets were lined with thousands of school children gathered to pay final respect to John Howard Payne as down Pennsylvania Avenue passed the funeral procession.

John Howard Payne was appointed American Consul at Tunis in 1841, and died there. He will be forever famous as the writer of the immortal and universal love "Home-Sweet-Home." It is a singular fact that the man who wrote "Home, Sweet Home" never had a home during the last forty years of his life, and died in a foreign land. But the country honored him in the great procession, when his body was brought home and laid to rest in his native soil.

Read again the entire poem and you will see the thoughts that arose in the heart of a great man who knew the true meaning of Home.

"Mid-pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.
By the chimney the sky seems to hallow us there,
Which sought thru the world, it ne'er met with elsewhere;
Home, home, sweet, sweet home.
There's no place like home, oh, there's no place like home.
On our coins you will find these words: "In God we trust."
That is our nation's motto, from the beginning God has been the guardian of the American Home, and with thankful hearts we say "In God we trust."

With this thought THE LEADER is proud to introduce a new feature, THE FAMILY CIRCLE. This is to be a regular feature devoted to the Home and Family.

How to Attract New Industries to Freeport AND VICINITY

CHAPTER VIII Regulations and Control

In the course of these articles which have appeared each week, we have pointed out certain kinds of information which must be gathered in order to accomplish a constructive job of selling the Village as a location for an industrial prospect.

A number of questions have arisen regarding Industrial Development and the control that can be exercised to assure that proper kinds of industry are interested in locating, and that the industries themselves will be an asset to the community.

A part of this control is obviously obtained through proper regulations and industrial zoning, or zoning of real estate itself. However, to a large extent, the control of selecting industries becomes a matter of good approach and proper publicity. Take for example, the literature published by most cities in the sales promotion of their industrial development. By and large it is both disappointing and barren to the average plant manager, earnestly seeking reliable and authoritative information of an economic character on different communities preliminary to locating a new plant.

Every city, whether large or small, should publish a pamphlet or a series of pamphlets, attractively illustrated and frequently revised, presenting in summarized form the economic advantages afforded local industries.

The research outlines that have appeared in this series of articles prior to now provide a basic form for gathering information and specify the type of data necessary for publication of such a pamphlet. These publications should be comparable in form, content and style to the best advertising matter issued by large corporations describing their respective products to the trade. This is essentially a merchandising job, in this case, the merchandising of Village to new industries.

It is an important and highly technical matter, a subject worthy of specialized treatment, but as yet, this fact seems to have escaped Long Island.

In many instances cities throughout the United States have attempted to supply the deficiency through a lavish dispensation of artificial inducements to industry. This, in other language, describes the granting of tax inducements, free land, construction of buildings, or other concessions that many persons are inclined to describe as the reason for their non-concession area's failure in attracting proper industry.

The competition for new industrial plants and for industries to be located in villages and cities is increasing daily, and many communities are resorting to such methods of attracting the industry to their area. They will provide the industry with sites, free buildings, free rent, free water, free power, free taxes, removal expenses and other bonuses.

Campaigns of this character ignore the all important fact that a community possessing unique opportunities for industry need not grant artificial inducements to attract new plants. The difference between an uneconomic location can never be equalized with municipal hand-outs. Self-reliant and successful industrial organizations value an economic location so highly that they refuse to put themselves, as it were, upon the auction block to be sold to the highest bidder.

In many instances the industry is reluctant to obligate itself to the community by accepting such unusual inducements or gratuities. Organizations who do seek such gratuities and are influenced by such, to a certain extent, may be of the character that would be considered unreliable for most communities, and thereby place the whole industrial picture of a village in jeopardy.

With these thoughts in mind, it therefore becomes increasingly important to do a good selling job. It is obvious that those industries that would be of the most desirable character, that become secure, reliable citizens of the community, that are interested in making a sound contribution to the economic growth of the community, are most frequently the peak point for competition among communities that have recognized the value of good industrial development. This thereby becomes the competitive sphere of selling for a city or community.

To have a cooperative attitude toward public utilities, basic necessities, in order to assure that the industrial prospect is given every opportunity to have the strongest possible start in the territory is both sound and obviously constructive. However, this should not be considered as merely an inducement; it should be considered a part of the ordinary program of selling, therefore, it is recommended that the data and information be compiled as soon as possible to present the most intelligent story in behalf of the community, and that this information be published in suitable form, properly illustrated for distribution to prospects that can be interested or can become interested in locating in the territory.

On Long Island there are many different kinds of publishing establishments well equipped to aid and assist in the actual production of such a brochure. It therefore becomes a matter of proper correlating the information and seeing that accurate data is available which will

LEADER 'SNAPS' UNITY PARTY OUTING

The close to 350 persons who attended the annual Unity Party outing at the Hempstead Town Park at Point Lookout recently are still talking about the wonderful time they had at the event. With the weather perfect and those in charge doing all in their power to cater to the interests of their guests it proved a day that will be long remembered by all who made the trip to the beach.

Village Counsel Martin H. Weyrauch was "official" photographer for the day and took the "snaps" shown on this page. Patrolman Joseph Romeika and the Freeport Police Boys Club band put on an excellent program which was heard all over the park over the facilities of the loud speaker system.

Dr. George A. Newton, president of the party, was on hand to greet all comers, while Mayor Robert L. Dorse, Trustees Cord Viebrock, William F. Glacken, Leonard D. B. Smith and Seward J. Baker were active on various committees in charge of the outing. Former Mayor Cyril C. Ryan was his usual cheery self. Ralph L. Marshall, Raymond McKeirnan, Joseph H. McCarthy, Walter J. Miranda, Warren F. Millard, most of whom were present with their wives, each and everyone did everything possible to cater to the interests of all in attendance. The games were enjoyed and all together it was the biggest day in the history of the party.

(Copies of the photographs on this page and others may be obtained at the office of THE LEADER, 20 South Main st., by those who desire a memento of the occasion.)

How to Attract New Industries to Freeport

answer the needs of the company officials who have been approached to have their industry located here.

Some of the economic factors that might be worthy of consideration as industries are approached are: a community specializing in the production of capital goods; exclusively, will in depressions, experience a more severe drop in employment payrolls than a community confining its attention solely to the manufacture of consumer goods, assuming such merchandise to consist of staple articles.

A city in which industries utilize only unskilled labor will always experience a lower level than one with industries employing highly skilled labor.

What constitutes desirable diversification differs in each locality according to its own particular location with reference to the fundamental factors in production and distribution.

Each city should, therefore, devote more attention than it has in the past, not to mere diversification but to types of diversification which will fit its needs.

In the instance of a village such as Freeport, lacking raw materials and other similar assets which ordinarily justify the location of industry, we have two important guides for preparing our sales promotion material. One is the value of our splendid labor market, and two, our close proximity to a highly diversified industrial market, probably the largest industrial market in the world. The metropolitan area of New York City consisting of some 45,000 various types of manufacturing companies all who require products, services and facilities. To be within the area of this market, providing executives and persons doing business with our industrial firms with more than 100 passenger trains per day, within an hour of Pennsylvania Station, and yet out of the congested traffic area, where it is a comparatively simple procedure to receive incoming shipments of raw materials, and to dispatch outgoing shipments of finished products, where employees reside close to their place of business, and enjoy outstanding features in their daily living, which creates a happy, pleasant, productive atmosphere, all contribute to advantages not ordinarily found in most industrial communities today.

By and large it is the productivity of workers that constitutes the greatest influence on the location of light manufacturing or similar types of industry, where close proximity to a certain specific type of raw material is not the predominant factor in the location of a plant. Also we should bear in mind that the transportation of basic raw materials for conversion into finished products is frequently less expensive in the raw state than in the finished product state. Modern industry from this point of view, has recognized that freight transportation of finished products is an expensive item that can largely be overcome by locating, at least the finishing branch of their operation, close to the major market for their finished products. This is part of the reason that many firms are now locating on Long Island.

Any brochure that is made up for distribution should certainly point out the value of our labor market, and also the important value of the location in relation to markets of various types of products. This like any other selling job, becomes in itself a matter of knowing your own product and its value to the customer. It requires two types of general knowledge: in addition to authoritative and factual research on the value of the community, a certain degree of knowledge concerning the needs and requirements, and comparative advantages of location for one type of industry over another will eliminate considerable waste motion and strengthen the presentation to the industrial prospect.

In certain circles questions have been asked as to where sufficient acreage would be available for the location of any large sized firm. It should be borne in mind when thinking of industrial economic progress for a community that the one plant community is usually in high jeopardy; is vulnerable to depressions; is outbalanced in products and similar hazards which may cause vast unemployment in a community by virtue of the single type of enterprise dominating the territory. Therefore, it is logical to assume that a variety of smaller enterprises, highly diversified, could become a greater asset to the community than one very large enterprise employing a comparable number of people in one business.

Also in the metropolitan area of New York, there are thousands and thousands of excellent small plant prospects as compared to a limited number of large plant prospects. Small parcels of land located throughout the area of Freeport, could very readily be adapted to the needs of small manufacturers requiring from 5,000 sq. feet of floor space to perhaps 400,000 sq. feet of floor space, with adequate surrounding land to assure proper landscaping, off the street parking, and similar assets which have now become a part of the modern industrial plant.

Future articles in this series will deal more fully with this phase of our development. It is urgent that we prepare the promotional brochure as soon as our research program can be completed in order to produce the most effective results.

L. I. Railroad Speeds Freight Shipments

The handling of less than carload freight shipments has been greatly speeded to several key centers of Long Island according to a statement by George Cushman, chairman of the Freight and Transportation Committee of the Long Island Association this week. He indicated a new system which would reduce shipping time on incoming and outgoing less than carload freight shipments 48 to 72 hours, has been made possible by the close cooperation given the committee by both railroad officials and shippers in response to a survey made by the association more than six months ago.

This new arrangement for handling freight shipments includes the areas of Mineola, Garden City, New Hyde Park, East Williston, Hempstead, West Hempstead, Rockville Centre, Valley Stream providing direct pick-up and delivery service via motor truck between places and the railroad's chief transfer station in Long Island City.

K. M. Potter, General Freight Agent for the Railroad, said shippers and receivers in the area listed will receive service equal to firms located in Brooklyn and Long Island City with no additional cost.

As the service proves of increasing value it is to be expanded to other localities.

Legion Auxiliary Omits July-August Penny Sales

The monthly penny sales conducted by the Ladies Auxiliary of William Clinton Story Post, A. L., have been discontinued until September. This announcement was made at a meeting of the group in the Dugout Thursday night. Mrs. Nancy Meyer, the president, presided.

Mrs. Barbara Cruger reported $100 spent by the child welfare and rehabilitation committee since the previous meeting. It also was reported that 26 members attended the dinner given recently in honor of Mrs. Irene Merrill, the retiring county president, and that 14 participated in the pilgrimage to the Kings Park State Hospital.

Mrs. Emily Christ, legislation chairman, announced replies had been received from U. S. Senator Edwin M. Ives and Congressman Leonard W. Hall to letters sent them protesting against the mail service curtailment in Freeport. Mrs. Florence Moore, cheer chairman, announced she had sent cards to 17 persons. The next meeting will be held on Thursday night, Aug. 17.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company

We will resist all unwarranted price rises with all our might.

We will make every effort to hold our inventories at the lowest point consistent with good service to our customers, because hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers or consumers, will cause higher prices.

We will continue to maintain the lowest profit rate generally prevailing in the entire retail industry. Our net profit now is less than one cent on each dollar of sales.

We will continue to strive for more efficient distribution.

We will fight waste of food, or time, or money all along the line so as to narrow the spread between wholesale and retail prices.

We will devote all our energies to giving you the most good food for your money every day of the week.

We will strive always to do what is honest, fair, sincere and in the best interest of our country and our customers.

As most of you know, this company and the low cost, low profit policies that built it are under attack.

We are defending ourselves against a suit brought by the anti-trust lawyers to put A&P out of business.

But the greater conflict in which our country is now engaged takes precedence over all else.

Today, with our boys fighting in Korea, we believe that all citizens and all businesses, big and little, should devote themselves wholeheartedly to the public interest.

We promise the American people that we will cooperate unhesitatingly with our national government in the present crisis.

We promise you that we will continue to do everything in our power to put more buying power in your food dollar and more good food on your dinner table.
